

THE DAILY BULLETIN.

FRIDAY EVENING, AUGUST 3, 1883.

ROSSER & MCCARTHY,
Publishers and Proprietors,
To Whom Address All Communications.

You're sure to have a peek of fun
Should you decide to go,
To-morrow afternoon and night,
To see the mammoth show.
And you will meet a friend whose head
Is frosted o'er with snow,
But he is still the same old "Dan"
You knew long years ago.

Still missing.

Hung jury—told you so.

Two car loads of iron work arrived yesterday for the new jail.

A soap factory on an extensive scale is talked of in Maysville.

From a call of the yeas and nays it seems that the hogs have it and mean to try to keep it.

Col. J. M. Stockton is remodeling the old postoffice with a view of converting it into a handsome business house.

Messrs. Ball, Mitchell & Co., of this city, have bought and removed the machinery recently used at the Augusta furniture factory.

The speaking at the Court House last night by Mr. Silas A. Clift and Hon. E. C. Phister, attracted a large audience, which was pleasantly and instructively entertained.

If we can't get rid of the hogs, for goodness sake, let the council have the yeas and nays called on the subject of the introduction in Maysville of a new kind of flea.

We expected to announce the arrival of several brand new babies in Maysville this week, but unexpectedly "further time" has been asked. This is a result of the bad example of the city council.

FRANK R. PHISTER has an unusually handsome lot of picture frames of all sizes. They have been selected with rare good taste and can not fail to please the most exacting. A list of prices will be found in another column.

A notice is printed elsewhere of the dissolution of the firm of Wheatley & Co. Mr. T. W. Wheatley retires and is succeeded by Messrs. J. H. Rogers & Co., who collect all the debts due the old firm and assume all liabilities.

MR. SEAMON SIMON, the enterprising Market street queensware dealer, is astonishing the natives with some very low prices. His store is a veritable cheap emporium in all departments. You can get anything in the queensware line, almost at your own price. See his advertisement.

MR. H. T. McCloskey, of Galena, Ill., writes asking information concerning John McCloskey, or any of his children, if he is dead. He is supposed to have removed to this county between the years 1810 and 1825, and had a brother of the name of James M. McCloskey, who went to Detroit, Mich., about 1812 and is now dead.

ONE of the BULLETIN's carriers reported for duty the other morning, with closed eyes and a head on him big enough for two boys of his age.

"What's the matter," he was asked, "been kicked by a mule?"

"No, sir."

"Been talking on the hog question?"

"No, sir."

"Been asking when the street cars will arrive?"

"No, sir."

"Well, what in the nation is the matter?"

"Nothing in particular—only I called on some bumble-bees and found 'em at home."

Deering Camp Meeting.

A representative of the BULLETIN visited the grounds yesterday, and found that a vast improvement has been made since last year. The grounds are neatly arranged, a large number of new and convenient cottages have been constructed, while the dining hall has been increased in size, and other things done that will add to the attractions and increase the comfort of visitors. The restaurant arrangements are under the direction of Mr. Thomas J. Nolin, who has had many years experience as a caterer, and understands thoroughly how to please the appetite. His tables will be supplied abundantly, and with the best food that can be obtained. The Rev. T. Dewitt Talmage will preach on Tuesday and Wednesday next, on which occasion and during the entire meeting, the trains will leave this city at 6:10 a. m., 9:30 a. m., and at 1 p. m., and carry visitors at half fare rates, returning at 7:20 p. m. and 9:45 p. m. On Sunday, August 8th, a special train will leave this city at 8:30 a. m., and returning will leave the camp ground promptly at 4 p. m.

Maysville Enterprise.

Messrs. W. B. Mathews & Co. are furnishing the entire bill of lumber for the erection of a fine large two story house for Mr. J. W. Parash, at Malden, Kanawha county, W. Va., who is a nephew of Mr. A. B. Greenwood, of Maysville. Mr. Homer Frederick has the contract for the building, and the painting will be done by Mr. Greenwood. It is the excellence of Maysville work, of course, that brings these orders from abroad.

Col. JOHN M. STOCKTON, we are informed, will be a candidate for Councilman from the Second Ward, at the special election to be held on the 13th inst.

Tomorrow's Big Show.

Advertising car No. 2, of Nathans & Company's eight big consolidated shows arrived in this city yesterday morning from Richmond, Ky., and the force of expert paste manipulators belonging thereto were for the day busily engaged in billing the vicinity of Maysville for the prospective appearance of the foregoing tented enterprise on August 4th.

Nathans & Company's Show is reported to be one of the most attractive exhibitions on the road, and has everywhere been highly complimented for the refreshing originality which characterizes every department of their establishment.

Their menagerie comprises all the high priced specimens of the zoological world, each representative of the many different species being carefully selected for its rarity and worth. Among their several leading aspirants for menagerial notoriety are a herd of umbrella-eared elephants, a pair of snow-white buffaloes, a gigantic Sahara camel, said to be taller than the all-overlooking Jumbo, and the only living orang-outang in captivity, who, in human-like maneuvers, will be a complete surprise to the students of natural history.

The museum is replete with giants, dwarfs, etc., and also contains the celebrated tattooed Greek nobleman, Capt. Costentenus, whose skin has been cruelly punctured with the points of a million needles.

The circus performance will be strikingly interesting for the roster of celebrities contained in the arena programme, comprising many of the greatest artists of both the old world and the new, including among its prominent favorites such peerless performers as Madame Dockrill, Dan Rice, Fred Barclay, the Ashton brothers, and Mlle Lefevre.

A magnificent free street parade, of an unwontedly brilliant character, will be given at 10 a. m.

PERSONALS.

Mrs. J. W. Pierce and son returned home to Covington, yesterday.

Mrs. O. H. P. Thomas and Mr. B. F. Thomas are at Crab Orchard Springs.

Mr. John A. Miller and wife, of Atlanta, Ga., are visiting the family of Mr. James H. Hall.

Miss Hattie Walker, of Talliesboro, is visiting Misses Emma and Lena Means, of East Maysville.

Mrs. Jessie McDaniel and daughter, Miss Jennie, of Carlisle, are visiting her mother, Mrs. King, of Third street.

Improvements.

Mr. George Clinger has just finished a handsome two-story brick dwelling in Chester, which is very convenient and well appointed. It contains eight rooms, two halls and has a cellar under the entire building.

Messrs. Holliday & McDonald are building a neat frame cottage in Chester.

Prof. B. F. Williams is putting up a commodious double frame dwelling in Clifton.

IN MEMORIAM.

Faded and gone is our darling,
Many the tears that we shed,
Dark is our home once so bright,
For our dear little waiter is dead.

It was on a bright January morning,
But seven short years ago,
Our angel waiter came to us,
Now in death is lying low.

We loved our precious darling,
We loved him far too well,
And the grief we felt at parting,
No mortal tongue can tell.

He was the light of the house, its music;
Oh God when the birds first wake
In the gray and chill of the morning
Its a wonder our hearts don't break.

But remember all he suffered,
Remember all I have known,
And calling the angels to witness
We love him, our lost one, our own.

So with sorrowing hearts we turn us to our daily occupation. One more more sweet angel lends his searching glance to spy out all our ways and guide us to that place where he has gone before, where with angel throng released from earthly pains he beckons us, with radiant smiles to realms of light and love.
